CCC&TI Hires Johnson as New Lady Cobras Head Coach

As the son of a high school basketball coach, Ty Johnson grew up in the gym and always knew he'd end up coaching. After a season as the head coach of the girls basketball team at West Brunswick High School, Johnson landed his first job as a college head coach when he was hired to lead the Lady Cobras of Caldwell Community College and Technical Institute.

"I have a ton of respect for (Athletic Director) Coach Anderson and what he's done here," Johnson said. "This is probably one of the most supportive institutions I've seen for athletics."

Hired in September, Johnson has had little time to adjust to his new surroundings and a new team, made up of mostly true freshmen. The regular season for the Lady Cobras begins on Saturday, Nov. 5 on the road against Bryant & Stratton College. But, he knows the Lady Cobras will be ready.

"With the way we play and how hard we play, I'm excited to see how we do," Johnson said. "I feel like we're going to play harder and work harder than any other team."

Johnson said the Lady Cobras are a defensive-minded team and exciting to watch.

"We're going to lock teams down and guard them," he said, adding that his defenders will focus on causing turnovers. "We want our offense to come from our defense."

Still relatively new to coaching, Johnson brings experience as a player at all levels of the game. He was a standout at North Wilkes and North Iredell high schools, and excelled at Warren Wilson College where he was a member of the 2013 Division II National Championship team and a runner-up nominee for National Player of the Year. His playing career also included a spot on the ACC Barnstorming Tour and time as a professional with the UBA's Carolina Cougars.

Johnson, who is married to Kassidi Johnson, considers his new job coaching at CCC&TI to be a homecoming of sorts.

"I grew up playing Hibriten and West Caldwell," he said. "I love being back home and I love recruiting back home."

Watauga Campus Culinary Arts Turning Up the Heat

CCC&TI's Watauga Campus is in its second year of offering the popular Culinary Arts program and opportunities for students and the community are continuing to grow. This summer, CCC&TI's Continuing Education Division was able to expand its Super Summer offerings to include three culinary themed camps on the Watauga Campus. Thanks to support from the community, offerings were expanded and additional camps were added to the schedule.

Watauga Campus Culinary Instructor, Chef Robert Back, was also able to set up a demonstration and tasting event at the Boone Farmer's Market showcasing recipes featuring fresh, local fare. Student, Susan Burnett was on hand to assist with the demonstration and talk with shoppers about the recipes and CCC&TI's Culinary Arts Program.

For more information about Culinary Arts on the Watauga Campus, call 828-297-3811.

CCC&TI Employees Complete Leadership Caldwell

Three CCC&TI employees recently completed the Leadership Caldwell program. Leadership Caldwell is a Caldwell Chamber of Commerce program designed to develop informed community leaders. The goal of the program is to educate, challenge and motivate potential leaders by providing information about community resources, identifying community concerns. The program aims to build a corps of leaders with a commitment to bettering our community. In addition to learning about the community, the program is designed to help participants improve their ability to think critically, plan strategically, build consensus and resolve conflict. The program aims to meet the community's ever-growing demands for knowledgeable, motivated and skilled leaders while also returning to the sponsoring employer a more skilled and responsible manager, employee and leader.

CCC&TI Hosts Students for a Cure Event

Caldwell Community College and Technical Institute's Cosmetology Department hosted its third annual "Students for a Cure Event" on Monday, Oct. 3 on the Caldwell Campus in Hudson.

Cosmetology students offered manicure, haircut and styling services in exchange for donations for the Foothills NC Susan G. Komen organization. In total, 54 students participated. The event served 61 clients and raised more than $360 for NC Foothills Susan G. Komen.

According to Cosmetology Director Lisa Rector, the event is a valuable learning experience for students in many ways. "The students and instructors work really hard preparing for this event. It is a benefit to our students because it gives them experience in charity work, helps them understand empathy, and it is a great way to give back to our community while also practicing the skills they're learning in the classroom," said Rector. "Students get really excited about the event. They all know someone who has or has had cancer and this event gives them an opportunity to work as a team to raise money and awareness for a cause that hits home for many of them."

For decades, U.S. strategists-for-hire have been quietly molding the opinions of voters and the messages of candidates in elections from the Middle East to the South American jungle. Our Brand is Crisis follows James Carville, Jeremy Rosner and a team of political consultants as they launch a media-savvy campaign for Bolivian presidential candidate Gonzalo Sánchez de Lozada. With unprecedented access to think sessions, media training and the making of smear campaigns, witness an example of America "spreading democracy" overseas and its earth-shattering aftermath.
